MYSTERY GRAVE IS FOUND CUCAMONGA

A mystery grave at Cucamonga, thought once to contain gold, was opened yesterday by Sheriff W. A. Shay and Coroner J. B. Hanna and other officers and they dug into the skeleton of a human being.

The hunt for evidence of an ancient murder, dating back 10 or 11 years, was started as rumors flitted in and out of the case against Anaclota Perez, charged with attempting to murder Domingo Lopez several weeks ago, to the effect that a man was buried in the yard at Perez's home.

Equipped with shovels, the posse went to the settlement in South Cucamonga and began to dig. An old Spanish woman who watched the proceedings communicated to one of the members of the digging party the directions that led to the grave.

Part of a human skull and other bones were found a few feet beneath the surface.

The existence of the grave has been known apparently to the inner circle of Mexicans in the settlement for about six years. Officers had never been told, because of fear of vengeance by some unnamed person.

Six years ago the search for the treasure known to have been buried near Cucamonga in the early days during an attack on the Spanish families and padres by Indians, resulted in a secret excavation at the spot where the grave was found yesterday. The ground had sunk during a heavy rain storm and in the exploration for the ancient gold a small group of Mexicans, some of them descendants of old-time Cucamonga Mexican families, visited the spot during the night and dug.

Reveals Skeleton

Instead of gold, however, they found the skeleton. The same woman who told the officers where to dig yesterday was present on the night when the grave was opened six years ago. She told the officers that when the grave was first opened the skull showed plainly where it had been crushed by a blow.

Perez showed concern when Sheriff Shay informed him he had come to search for a grave.

Perez is out on bond. No charge was made against him in the new evidence of murder.

School Notes

Dr. Foster of St. Mark's Church gave a splendid talk in assembly last Monday, taking as his subject "Hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil."

The ball game between Upland and Mountain View which was played last Tuesday on Chaffey grounds, resulted in a score of 10-4 in favor of Upland.

Mrs. W. Farmer is substituting this week for Mrs. Ruth Stickney and Miss Ethel Brown is taking Miss Hart's classes.

Mrs. E. C. Harwood assisted with the fifth grade sewing class Thursday from one to two o'clock.

Through the kindness of Mr. Cutler a splendid piece of play ground equipment, a giant stride, has been given to the school, which will be placed on the Sierra Vista School grounds.

The fifth grade pupils are busy preparing a patriotic program in celebration of the two holidays this month, which will be given in assembly on Monday, Feb. 21. An opera by the children in the lower grades at Tenth street, and the 18th street pupils is being rehearsed, and will be given later on as an evening program.

A very interesting contest took place yesterday afternoon by students of the Junior High of Upland and Central School, Ontario. Teams competed in Spanish, music, spelling, arithmetic, and reading. Upland won by a score of 93 points to 90.6 for Central.

Working with the citrus association for the betterment of conditions among the Mexicans in the camps, Miss Carrey of the Sierra Vista school has been relieved from teaching in the mornings and will spend her time in home work in the camp. Miss McClair has been employed by the citrus people as substitute for Miss Carrey.

Last week closed the first half of the school year, and semester exams are being given this week. Pupils of the Junior High, who are fortunate enough to have 1's and 2's on their report cards, are enjoying a little relaxation from their studies, while the unfortunate ones are taking the exams.

POMONA SCENE OF MOVIE COMPANY

Pomona movie fans were greatly interested Wednesday in the arrival of Mary Miles Minter, Jerome Patrick, Director Joe Henneberry, and a troupe of Famous Players-Lasky folk, who arrived at the Southern Pacific station in the morning to "shoot" the railroad station scenes in the filming of Billy Burke's Broadway success, "Jerry." The company worked all day at the Pomona depot and according to plans motored out from Hollywood Thursday morning for some final scenes.

The center of interest was a Cadillac roadster in which Miss Minter rode in the big accident scene of the play, staged last week on a Hollywood boulevard.

In telling of the accident, Jerome Patrick, co-star in the picture, said, "The manuscript calls for a get-away. Miss Minter is supposed to rush madly off in a roadster, followed by me in another car, with an accident as a finale. This is how we staged it on one of the Hollywood boulevards—Miss Minter in the Cadillac roadster dashed down the road-way at 50 miles an hour, while I followed. In attempting to avoid a collision with a street car she hit an Italian fruit wagon. At the time of the collision I was going at such a rate of speed that all I saw was a big shower of bananas, oranges and other kinds of fruit."

When he finished the account he pointed to a Cadillac roadster parked near the Pomona depot. The mangled headlights and broken windshield showed plainly the effects of the bit of realism introduced in the filming of the famous stage play.

MISSIONARY FROM CHINA TO SPEAK

Miss Glennie Sims, a returned missionary from China, will speak at the Cucamonga Nazarene Church next Sunday at 11 o'clock, and at 7 p. m. Palo Micelli, East A street, Ontario, arrested January 18, on charges of violating the county liquor laws, Wednesday was fined $500 by Judge Rex B. Goodcell in the superior court at San Bernardino.

Micelli pleaded guilty Monday in the superior court but maintained that he was tricked into selling the liquor.

KIDNAPERS BEHIND SAN QUENTIN BARS

Floyd L. Carr and his cousin Arthur W. Carr, confessed kidnapers of Mrs. Gladys Witherell of Hollywood are today becoming accustomed to the routine of things at San Quentin, for Wednesday Judge Reeve sentenced them to ten years with a recommendation of a life sentence.

Corona, just across the valley from Upland, jumped into the limelight Monday when through a telephone call to the Witherell home four operators at central in Hollywood tipped off the police and one of the kidnapers was captured. From Los Angeles the trip was made to Corona where Mrs. Witherell was held by the other kidnapper.

In four days' time the men were captured, tried, and sentenced. Mrs. Witherell was returned to her family and though in a serious condition for a time is recovering. The four telephone operators received the $2000 reward which was offered.

COLONIAL OFFERS A REAL JOY SHOW

The Colonial played to a capacity house last night, the main feature being Fatty Arbuckle in "The Life of the Party," which proved a fun-producer from start to finish while the comedy, "It Meets All Trains," and the Tonerville street car which ran occasionally over the depot line, added to the general good time of the audience. The same show is scheduled for tonight.

Tomorrow night Enid Bennett appears in "Her Husband's Friend," which is a triangle play of unusual interest. Rowland Lee plays the part of Billy Weaver, the considerate, yet hopelessly weak young husband. "Her Husband's Friend" was adapted to the screen from "The Incubus," of Marjorie Benton Cooke.

Sunday and Monday nights Justice Johnston appears in "Black Birds," and along with it comes "The Race of the Age," featuring Man-o-War, the greatest racing horse alive today. This is the second time "The Race of the Age" has been shown here, and as many who missed it the first time desired to see it the Colonial management consented to put the production on again.

BUILDING ACTIVITY CONTINUES HERE

Within the month numerous buildings under construction will be practically completed and one of the foremost among them will be the First National Bank. Although numerous details about the bank will not be complete for many weeks because of a shortage of material, as far as patrons of the institution are concerned the work will appear complete within a very short time, and with its completion Upland will rank first as having the most complete banking equipment in the county, for it is said by bankers of experience that there's nothing equaling the First National's equipment in the county. As soon as the work is finished The News will produce both exterior and interior views of the new bank together with a write-up of all the details.

Sycamore Inn

Sycamore Inn at the Y in the road to the east of Upland is looming up in fine shape these days, and a visit to the site will demonstrate to you that Messrs. Waddle & Sikes are there erecting an institution destined to become one of the most popular in this section.

Odd Fellows' Building

After many delays the Odd Fellows' building is nearing completion and within a short time the front to the Mehl Hardware which occupies the lower floor, will have been finished, and a most attractive front it will be, for with its strictly modern design it is bound to give the Mehl Hardware a much better opportunity to display goods.

Addition to News Office

Owing to the fact that a water pipe was in the way of installing the foundation for the Upland News addition, work has been held up a day or two, but conditions are again straightened away, and as soon as The News management can prevail upon Contractor Cline to proceed with the work, there will be more activity in the back yard. At the present time our friends say to us, "You seem to have started a cemetery in the back yard."

Numerous Residences

Throughout the city several residences are being completed and indications are that many more will be built during the summer months.

J. B. PERSCHBACHER BUYS ORANGE BELT

J. B. Perschbacher, concessionaire at Camp Baldy and Balboa Beach, closed a deal yesterday with Fred and Wilbur Bull by which he becomes owner of the Orange Belt Confectionery here, formerly known as Churchill's.

Mr. Perschbacher plans on several changes and improvements at the Orange Belt and will make a specialty of serving the best of cream and soda, as well as a high grade of candies. Within a few weeks Mr. Perschbacher expects to inaugurate the serving of light lunches.

G. T. Redmon negotiated the deal.

Miss Rogers of Santa Barbara

Miss Rogers of Santa Barbara was a recent guest for a few days at the home of Mrs. W. G. Morrison on West Twenty-first street.

THE BANQUET HOUR APPROACHES--THE DINERS DITTO

With practically every ticket to the Chamber of Commerce dinner in the hands of a hungry citizen, Chairman Bunker of the ticket committee had a satisfied look this morning. However, there was a worried expression around the corners of his eyes, lest some late applicant should try to collect a ticket when all are sold. If any man has forgotten to get his ticket, he had better get Bunker, H. S. Wilson, E. C. Mehl, H. C. Moore or Bob Wisely on the phone pronto. Even then, it may be too late.

Any Turkeys Missing?

Landlord Johnson was having his troubles yesterday. His turkey order of two weeks' standing was but partly filled. He was happy this morning and had his full quota of birds. Whose poultry plant was visited last night has not yet been ascertained. Mr. Johnson would not talk for publication, but said that the dinner would speak for itself. However, in new lighting effects, sparkling silver and fine china, the appointments of the meal will match the banquet.

Husky Waiters

There will be no hitch in the service of the dinner, for a dozen husky trained in catch-as-catch-can wrestling with laden platters at the College Commons at Claremont will be on the job. The service from soup to black coffee will proceed without hitch.

Speaking of Music

Numerous requests have come for the repetition by the male quartet of the citrus classic that had its first appearance at the banquet last year. Whether this request will be granted or not Mr. Blakeslee and his bunch will present living topics of today in tuneless harmonies. It may well be that there will not be a dry eye in the hall after their touching ballad, "Boosters for Upland," which has been written solely for this occasion.

Fred Wilding and his crew will entertain during the dinner hour, and it is rumored that he is promising the boys that they will receive dinner service in the same proportion as they produce volume of music. If this is correct, Manager Johnson will do well to bolt down the roof.

President Beattie Presiding

With Will Beattie on the job as toastmaster, the program will move without hitch. Beginning with the tales of olden days, on through the present and the future, the speakers will tell of the biggest and best things of Upland. Music and glimpses of our city and mountain will be interspersed between the addresses.

Annual Meeting

Following the program the annual election of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce will be held. Every member is expected to be present for the addresses and annual meeting, even if he must be excused from the banquet to feed horses or rock the babies to sleep.

The place is the Upland Tavern and the banquet hour is set for six-thirty.

MARCHFIELD FLIERS TAKE FATAL FALL

Crashing to the ground from an altitude of less than 100 feet, two March Field officers were fatally injured near Riverside Tuesday.

Lieut. Walter E. Price, a flying instructor, died at the post hospital a few hours after the fall and Lieut. Evan M. Sherrill of Mauckport, Ind., will probably not recover.

The two aviators had just left the ground when the engine went dead. The ship dropped to the grounds like lead and crashed both men, though Lieut. Price made every effort to right the plane.

IN THE SHADOW

The death of David Sydney Pettit at the age of eighty-nine occurred late Wednesday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Chowning. The funeral services were held this afternoon from the Draper chapel on Ninth street, the Rev. C. A. Kent officiating. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery.

Mr. Pettit's wife died a year ago, but all his children survive him. Two sons, J. B. Pettit, Pomona; J. H. Pettit, Lake Falls, Montana; seven daughters, Mrs. A. B. Anderson, and Miss Martha Pettit, all of Upland, and Mrs. Jess Durham of Selma, Cal., and Mrs. Elbert McCann, Missouri, and there are also 19 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

THREE ETIWANDANS HELD FOR LIQUOR DEALING

Claudio, John and Frank Dellena, arrested on the evening of January 5 at their home on a lonely road near Etiwanda charged with selling wine, were arraigned in the Cucamonga court Tuesday and held to answer in the superior court on charges of violating the liquor laws. They furnished $500 bail each. The men were arrested in a raid conducted by county officers, Constables Hirst, Cucamonga, and Frost, Etiwanda, and Lieut. Arthur Axley of Ontario. A large quantity of wine was seized.

EARL HARNISH IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Much more seriously injured than was at first thought, Earl Harnish was in a serious condition a few hours following the accident in which Harnish was struck by the automobile driven by Dr. Kankel.

Earl was getting one of a team of horses hauling material to the Koster Court when the driver told him to get away from the team before he got hurt. In stepping away from the horse he stepped directly in front of the Kankel car, the fender of which knocked him to the ground and injured his skull. A few hours later Harnish developed convulsion and for a time his condition was grave, but at present indications are that he will recover.

A. and Boy Scout organizations which will be held in the Chaffey cafeteria, preceded at 6:30 by an excellent dinner. P. E. TRAIN WRECKED WHEN RAIL BREAKS

Following close on the heels of the Pacific Electric's no-accident week, one of the most serious accidents in the history of this division occurred at La Verne at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, but owing to the protection afforded by the steel passenger cars, no one was fatally injured.

A two-car train bound for Upland and San Bernardino from Los Angeles was proceeding over the P. E. Pacific tracks used by the P. E. from Lone Hill to La Verne, at about 30 miles an hour, when the forward car left the track, plowed through the dirt for a moment then turned over on its side.

Passengers in the second car did heroic work in rescuing those trapped in the overturned car and assistance was sent from Pomona to gather with doctors and ambulances. Within a short time it developed that no one had been seriously hurt, although the majority of the passengers had been cut by flying glass and badly bruised when the car turned over.

Investigation of the cause of the wreck resulted in finding a broken rail which evidently had been broken by a freight passing over the line just previous to the coming of the passenger.

DELVING IN FILES FOR CITY'S HISTORY

Here're a few of the events that happened here in February, 1916:

The Colonial Theatre put on Griffith's masterpiece, "The Clansman," which drew a crowded house for three matinees and three night shows.

The protest on the paving of Washington boulevard was denied by the city council.

Immense damage to bridges and roads by January rain totals nearly $250,000.

Mayor Woodbridge and Councilman Lambright retired from the city council.

At a mass meeting F. C. Buffington and H. A. Hostetter endorsed for members of the city council, Chas. P. Fuller for city clerk and M. E. Palmer for city treasurer.

Some of the events of February, 1917, were as follows:

The Uplonta Chorus of fifty male voices was formed. R. F. Lemon was the president and E. W. Fischer secretary, with S. Earle Blakeslee as director.

Bond election for city sewer system under discussion.

Directors of Lemon Growers Association abandon plan of placing packing house in Mountain View district.

MOTOP TUBERCULOSIS CLINIC

The Antituberculosis Society of the Chaffey district met in Chaffey Library Feb. 3rd. A good report was made by the secretary, Dr. F. F. Abbott. All were surprised to find how much work had been done and how much was contemplated. The society voted ten dollars per month for six months to help support a community nurse in the Ontario district. Funds have already been conserved for the nurse in the Upland district. The report showed that there are 52 paid-up memberships. A number more united at the meeting last evening. The former officers were re-elected, Rev. R. C. Stone president, and Dr. F. F. Abbott secretary and treasurer.

California is the first state to have a tuberculosis clinic. This is a motor bus that travels from town to town assisting any who are in need of medical attention and giving information concerning the care and prevention of this dread disease. This motor clinic is in San Bernardino this week. It will be in Ontario next Monday and Tuesday and in Upland on Wednesday. Free information, literature or medical attention will be given to any visiting the clinic. A physician and a trained nurse are in charge. If any are not able to come to the clinic the bus will call on them. The clinic will be held in the basement of the library. Consultation may be had any time in the day or the evening. It is hoped that an address may be given by the physician in charge some time in the afternoon. This will be announced later.

It is very necessary that the public be informed how to prevent this disease as well as how to cure it. This is our opportunity to know how to guard against the spread of tuberculosis as well as how to effect a cure. All are invited to come and consult with the motor clinic next Wednesday at the library. Phone Mrs. Manver or Rev. R. C. Stone for further information.

MOTOR TRANSIT CO ADDS TO EQUIPMENT

Tremendous development of the motor stage business in California has been so swift and sure during the last two years that here in Los Angeles has grown one of the greatest motor stage systems in the world.

Radiating from Los Angeles, which is the natural center of Southern California, the motor stages of the Motor Transit Co. extend their lines to San Diego, Santa Ana, San Bernardino, Riverside, Redlands and into the mountains to Big Bear Lake. Also as far north as Bakersfield, where these lines make direct connection with motor stages for all northern points, including Fresno, Modesto, Oakland, and if you desire, connections can be made to Portland, Ore., and to Canada.

The extent of the travel over these lines is only realized when it is known as high as 500 cars are dispatched from the Union Stage Depot at Fifth and Los Angeles streets daily, and that these stage lines carry annually 3,000,000 people.

Motor transportation is developing and enjoining the back country by keeping the arteries between producer and consumer in close, quick contact. This has given parts of California that have been heretofore neglected by transportation companies a chance to produce and sell their goods.

Three important factors have been responsible for the remarkable growth of motor transportation. The first was the completion of California's wonderful highway system, which furnishes a complete network of roads far into the mountains and down to the sea.

The second factor entered into the motor transportation was the development of vehicles by motor truck companies that are capable of carrying passengers and freight efficiently at low cost. This necessitates having units that were able to keep on the job day after day which enabled transportation companies to give consistent and constant service.

The third, and one of the most important factors that have entered into the development of this new motor transportation, was the fact that these larger companies were properly financed, enabled them to maintain proper equipment and adequate service for their passengers.

One of the most useful fields of passenger motor stages is shown in the commercial field whereby companies save millions of dollars annually due to the fact that salesmen are not compelled to lay over at every small town because motor transportation provides frequent schedules enabling salesmen to cover, in some instances, four times as much territory as a few years ago.

Motor travel has given greater impetus to "See America First" slogan, because motor stage travel over the most scenic routes giving passengers ample opportunity of viewing the wonders of the country.

PIONEER DAYS' EXPERIENCES

Experiences of pioneer missionary days on the frontierland, and of events which happened in Wyoming and Idaho more than thirty years ago, were told very realistically by Dr. Foster in his talk last Wednesday evening, which he gave at the Parish House on F street.

Dr. Foster was intimately acquainted with the conditions of which he spoke, and presented to his audience a clear and vivid picture of what a man working for the uplift of humanity went through in those strenuous days. Anecdotes and stories added to the interest of the talk and pictures and photographs of the places mentioned were shown.

The speaker told of the many ways the missionary clergy helped the people, writing their letters, aiding them in times of sickness and sorrow, and standing as a buffer between the strong and the weak. In those days, while many of the Indians were true friends of the whites, several tribes were not, and the frontier pioneers were under a strain, never knowing when an Indian uprising might take place.

The lecture was very much enjoyed, and it is hoped that Dr. Foster will be able to repeat it to a larger audience in the immediate future.

BEULAH COLLEGE

The meetings are still continuing with increased interest and good results.

Some one was wondering where all the students come from. Four come from Oregon, four from Tulare county, one from Oakland, one from Canada, two from Armenia, three from Oklahoma, four from Kansas, and the rest from Southern California.

We are looking forward to the time of General Conference which will convene in Upland next spring. Several hundreds of delegates and visitors are expected.

WHY— I— HAVE— A— BANK— ACCOUNT.

BECAUSE if I pay a debt by drawing a check on a bank, the check must be endorsed before the bank will pay it, and it then becomes a legal receipt for my money paid. No creditor can claim that I did not pay, as I can show his endorsement on the check which paid the debt.

BECAUSE if I keep a good account with the bank and meet with some misfortune and do not have sufficient money for my purpose, the bank feels under obligations to loan me money, if I can secure them. The bank will nearly always loan its depositors money when it is refusing to make loans to other people.

POWELL GIVES STORY OF CITRUS INDUSTRY

A hearing was held last week before the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives on the citrus industry. C. C. Teague, president, and G. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, were present and Mr. Powell made a very forceful and all-inclusive statement before the committee, as follows:

The California lemon industry has grown to its present proportions through an evolution of more than thirty years, encouraged by the tariff policy of the American government, the cooperation of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state of California. The money invested in the citrus industry—i. e., the actual amount paid to bring it to its present status—is not less than $248,000,000, of which $55,000,000 is invested in the lemon industry. There are 15,000 growers, with their families, engaged in citrus fruit culture, of which 5500 are growers of lemons. The average acreage is approximately ten acres per owner. There are 24,000 laborers employed by the citrus growers, 7000 of whom work in the lemon industry.

Owned by Americans

"The California lemon groves are owned by American families, whose cultural practices and fruit handling methods have not been equaled in skill and in sanitation by any other fruit industry in the world, nor has the uniformity of grading and packing, and the keeping quality of the fruit been approached by the cheaper labor of the Sicilian grower and packer. More than 90 per cent of the California lemon crop is distributed evenly and continuously in normal times to the wholesale dealers in the markets of the United States without profit to the California cooperative agencies.

"There are eighty-five organizations of growers in sharp competition with each other and with the foreign importer. About one-half of all lemons sold in the United States are sold at public auction. The California growers, through these cooperative organizations, are expending practically as much money through national advertising and dealer service work to develop new fruit uses, to reduce the cost of wholesale and retail distribution through the development of better system of selling and to increase the consumption of lemons as it costs them to sell the fruit to the wholesale trade—a benefit which the Italian importer is reaping without cost or effort to himself.

Benefits of Cooperation

"The cooperative handling of the California citrus fruit crop has given a greater stability to the citrus fruit supplies by better methods of fruit handling, standardization of grading and packing and by better methods of merchandising than has been attained in any other perishable food industry. The average cost of distributing and selling the California citrus crop to the wholesale trade in 1920 through the producers cooperative associations was 6.6 cents per box, or 1.35 per cent of the delivered value of the fruit. This is the lowest known cost of marketing a perishable food product.

"The Sicilian lemon groves are owned by peasant farmers or by landed proprietors who manage them through a peasant custodian. One-third of the labor in some districts is composed of women and children. The Sicilian cultural operations, like the standard of living of the Sicilian producer and laborer, are, therefore, low in cost as compared with those of California.

"In 1911, it was found by the Italian Minister of Agriculture, as a result of an investigation made by the royal commission for the purpose of fixing the price which the government guarantees the producer of citrus fruit.

ANNIVERSARY OF C. E. AT ETIWANDA

The fortieth birthday of the Christian Endeavor movement was celebrated with quite a party Sunday evening at the Etiwanda church. The senior and intermediate societies joined in the program. Conspicuous in the decoration was a "birthday cake" as large as a tub, which held forty candles. After the program was finished the candles were lighted and off Mrs. C. W. Greenlee and Miss Bessie Troyer produced some plates of cake which every one had a slice from and pronounced it good. The orchestra furnished a lot of special music; Clarence Stephens a violin solo, Dorothy Spence and Frances Geidner a vocal duet, Edward Francis, Frances Spence, Hazel Cour and Clarence Stephens vocal quartette, and Rosalind Geidner vocal solo. "The Possibilities of Christian Endeavor" was discussed by Miss Helen Burbank and Miss Katherine Jones spoke on "The Achievements of the Society." At the Open Forum, at the close of the Endeavor meeting, the subject under discussion was "Has the World Advanced as Much in Religion and Ethics in the Past 40 Years as It Has in Science, Art and Invention?" A number of people responded with their ideas on the subject.

Mrs. George Frost celebrated her birthday pleasantly last Sunday with a house full of guests, all of them either her children or grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost and daughter Evelyn of San Bernardino were out for the day and local members of the family present with Mr. and Mrs. George Frost were Mr. G. E. Frost, Howard and Marjorie, Mr. and Mrs. John Frost, Morris, Mercedes, Lella Jack and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frost and Chester, Eleanor, Raymond and Marian.

Mrs. Frederick E. Rader has written relatives here of a serious accident which happened to Mr. Rader the first of the month. While watching a threshing machine at work at the Experiment Station the belt slipped and Mr. Rader reached to adjust it. It broke, wrapped about him and drew him into the machinery. He suffered a cut on his forehead which severed an artery. He was taken by rail to the Anchorage Hospital where he remained for five days before he was able to go back to Matanuska.

Because the new domestic science room of the school house is not finished ready to occupy Friday the girls will have another lesson in sewing. They had hoped to begin cooking lessons promptly and are greatly disappointed although a number need more time to complete garments that are still unfinished.

Work is being rapidly pushed on the bungalow which the Frost Bros. are erecting for Mr. and Mrs. Hammsley, on Etiwanda avenue. Mr. A. D. Allen and sons are doing the carpenter work.

A large number of relatives including his brother, Wm. Rupp, and family of Alta Loma, attended the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rupp will visit relatives through the state for a few weeks before returning to their lovely ranch home at Mound Ridge, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klusman will be hosts to the club at the next meeting, Friday, Feb. 11, at their home on Turner avenue. A musicale tea was the social event of last Thursday afternoon which attracted some forty club members and guests, in spite of the inclement weather, to the cozy home of Mrs. Milton W. Davenport, who was hostess to the Cucamonga Women's Club, with Miss Bessie Beekman assisting. Preceding the program of the afternoon the president, Mrs. Mary J. Reid, called for a report from the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. J. H. Williams, who gave an interesting outline and many suggestions for future programs, which were discussed and given a favorable vote by members. Current event topics followed. Contributing to the very enjoyable musical program were Mrs. Z. D. Molesoff and Mrs. Chas. Beckley in delightful piano duets, Mrs. Harry Ledig, piano solo, "Song Without Words" beautifully rendered, and Mrs. Manford Evans of Wichita Falls, Texas, who is visiting her parents here, Rev. and Mrs. E. ARROWHEAD NURSE TALKS TO CIRCLE MEMBERS

Through the kindness of Mrs. E. C. Harwood, the Euclid Avenue Reading Circle had the pleasure on Wednesday afternoon of hearing two very good addresses on the conditions of men and affairs at Arrowhead Hospital. Miss Wrigley, former head of the Red Cross, and now in charge of the nursing activities at the hospital, spoke on the condition of the soldiers, and explained what was needed and how affairs could be remedied.

The other speaker, Mr. Brant, who is in charge of the compensation for disabled soldiers, talked on that subject and was listened to with keen interest.

Mrs. I. C. Baxter and Mrs. A. R. Hungerford were hostesses to the Circle, and the meeting took place at the home of the latter on Euclid avenue. Twenty people were present and at the close of the speeches refreshments were served.

LOCAL WOMEN ATTEND LECTURE BY NOTED FRENCHMAN

Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. C. H. Spencer, Mrs. R. N. Leahy and Miss Ethel Manning of the Business Woman's Club, and Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. Leon Durham and Mrs. Miles Hamley of the Upland Woman's Club motored to San Bernardino on Wednesday afternoon to hear a most eloquent talk by Capt. Paul Perigord, of the French army during the war, and faculty member of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

The club women of San Bernardino were hostesses for the afternoon, at the club house, and after a warm welcome by the president, Mrs. G. F. Tilton, and hearing several songs by Mrs. Hussey of Redlands, the speaker, Captain Perigord, was introduced by Mrs. Henry Goodell and began a most interesting speech on a subject he is most enthusiastic over, "The Soul of America."

His admiration for and intimate knowledge of the principles of democracy as demonstrated in the early political life of this nation brought a thrill to the audience of 300 interested women, who felt renewed confidence in the inspired words of the speaker, that "government of the people for the people by the people" was no empty form of words, but a living, vital message.

"Four things impressed me very strongly in my traveling over this country, after she came into the war; they were the idealism of the women, the moral strength of the men, the bravery of the children, and the courage and patriotism of every one. I was in the Southern states, the Middle West, the Eastern states, and everywhere I met the same unflinching courage and determination to keep on, and fight for the freedom of 250,000,000 people, all of whom are now benefiting, although slowly, from the effect of the long strife. Some say, what good has the war done; things seem to be the same as before? I tell you, it has awakened many thousands of people up to the knowledge of the principles of democracy, which seeds may take some time to develop but they are planted. Democracy is the most simple form of government, but the most difficult. In an autocratic form of government a certain set of well trained, intelligent men manage the whole country, people are told what to do, and everything is arranged by a few. In a democracy owing to the fact that all people have a voice in the matter, it is more difficult to have the uniform efficiency of a trained one-man government."

The out of town guests of the San Bernardino club women were hospitably entertained after the lecture with ice cream and cake in the pleasant rooms of the club house, and a social hour followed that was enjoyed by both visitors and hosts.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE LADIES' AID

A large number of people attended the meeting of the Ladies' Aid held last Tuesday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church parlors. Mrs. Love, Miss Love and Mrs. R. R. Wisely were hosts of the social hour, and the time passed delightfully, after the business was safely disposed of. The members are planning to have a Silver Tea some time this month, but the day is not yet decided on.

AFTERNOON TEA AFFAIR FOR GUESTS

Entertaining in compliment to her house guest, Miss Agnes Handyside, of Oakland, Mrs. G. A. Hanson gave a charming afternoon tea yesterday at her home, 559 Euclid avenue. The house was lovely with fragrant acaia, and the guests, all of whom were friends of Miss Handyside when she lived here several years ago, spent a delightful afternoon greeting her and renewing old acquaintanceship.

The list of guests included Mrs. E. H. Granger, Mrs. W. P. Craft, Mrs. W. Starbuck Fenton, Mrs. B. C. Sheppard, Mrs. Richard Gushee, Mrs. H. F. Bradburne, Mrs. Torrens Pratt, Mrs. Cora Hubbell, Mrs. Isabel Neales, Mrs. C. Sheppard of Ontario, Mrs. William Pinckney of Alta Loma and her sister Mrs. Henry Acken of Mapletown, New Jersey, Mrs. John N. Huehn, Mrs. C. H. Wimpless, Mrs. R. N. Leahy, Mrs. James H. Black, Mrs. Donald Hill, and Mrs. W. P. Tucker of Upland.

INFORMAL BRIDGE AFFAIR

On discovering during a visit from her friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. Baurlein, of Los Angeles, that last Tuesday was Mr. Baurlein's birthday, Mrs. William Springer called up a few friends to help celebrate the event, and an informal evening was spent by the guests playing bridge and enjoying a friendly visit with the guest of honor.

A delicious supper was served late in the evening, and Mr. Baurlein received many congratulatory speeches on the happy occasion. The guests able to accept Councilman and Mrs. Springer's invitation were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Alford.

LUNCHEON PARTY BY MRS. FRED DRAPER

Mrs. Fred H. Draper was hostess today at a merry little informal luncheon given at her home, 662 Second avenue, when she entertained several relatives, some of whom are wintering here from Canada. Covers were laid for Mrs. J. B. Draper of Ontario, Mrs. F. Mutrie and Mrs. Pearson from British Columbia, Mrs. W. W. Hodgkins and little daughter Barbara of Inglewood, and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Draper.

MR. AND MRS. E. B. REYNOLDS ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Thursday, February 3, marked a birthday anniversary alike for Mr. D. C. Morrison and for Kenneth, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison. January 23 marked the birthday of little Miss Mary Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reynolds. In honor of all these happy anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Reynolds entertained last evening at their home on Third avenue. The tables were tastefully decorated with flowers, ribbons and candles, green and pink predominating. Occupying the place of honor in the center of the main table was the huge candle-laden birthday cake. Hidden away inside this big cake were a number of lucky coins, and there was great rivalry at the time the cake was cut as to who would secure the luck pieces. The chicken dinner preceded the ice cream and cake and the occasion was a very merry one, especially for the little folks. Mrs. Reynolds was assisted in serving by Mrs. Harris.

Mr. Morrison is employed at The News office, and he and the Reynolds boys, W. C. and E. B., were playmates in the old boyhood days in Iowa.

Those who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds for this occasion included Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Morrison and son Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. W. Harris and daughters Elizabeth and Margaret and son Tommie, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reynolds and daughters Elizabeth and Mary Helen and sons Morris and William, and Miss Opal Harvey of Cucamonga.

CARD CLUB ENTERTAINED

Lovely bouquets of violets were used in decoration on Wednesday evening at the home of I. J. Linkey, when Mrs. Linkey and her sister, Mrs. J. H. Bachman, were hostesses to the members of their Five Hundred Club. The club meets every two weeks and has adopted the plan of prizes being given for honors at the end of every fourth meeting. After a delightful evening at the game, the two hostesses served very delicious refreshments. The club members present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fossett, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reihnen of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bachman and Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Linkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fossett will be hosts at the next meeting of the club.

BUSINESS WOMEN HOLD MEETING

The dining room in Crowell Hall was very prettily decorated last Wednesday for the Business Woman's luncheon, which was provided by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church. The tables at which covers were laid for twenty-eight, looked most attractive with sprays of acaia and bouquets of violets, dainty baskets of candy and tempting salads at each plate.

Following the delicious meal, and the business meeting, Mrs. F. H. Manker introduced the speaker, Mrs. E. W. Reid, of Cucamonga, who talked most interestingly of the early days in this colony. Mrs. Reid said that thirty-three years yesterday (Feb. 1st) she and her husband arrived in Ontario, where the ploughing of Euclid avenue had just been commenced for the present beautiful driveway. Of all the different towns in this vicinity, Cucamonga, said Mrs. Reid, is the only one mentioned in the pioneer records. In 1774, the King of Spain ordered a road to be built from the San Gabriel Mission east, and the road builders made camp at Cucamonga, "the place of many springs," the exact spot being near Sycamore Grove, where there was plenty of water two hundred years ago. No further mention is made of this part of the country in the Spanish records until 1830, when the brick house on Red Hill was built by a then prominent man of Los Angeles, and which had the first school held under its roof. Owing to lack of time Mrs. Reid was not able to talk for more than a few minutes, but everything she said was very interesting both to those who had been here many years and rate of lime—that the cost of producing lemons in the provinces of Palermo, Messina, Syracuse and Catania varied from $20 to $32 per box. The corresponding cost in California was $1 per box. The average cost of picking, packing and loading lemons on the steamer in Italy was $61. Using 30 cents as the average cost of growing a box of lemons in Sicily, the cost of growing and preparing a box of lemons for shipment was $978 per box less than in California, or nearly 1½ cents per pound.

Importing Speculative

"The importing of lemons is founded on an erratic, highly speculative system of business, both in Sicily and firms of lemon speculators in Palermo in the United States. About sixty control the entire exporting trade, while about forty firms in New York handle the importing business—the interest of the grower or exporter in Sicily and the importer in New York being identical in many instances.

"The supplies of Italian lemons, unlike those from California, are irregular and erratic—the imports fluctuating violently as prices rise and fall; the business is purely speculative."

The committee were much impressed by these statements and several of the members indicated that the full amount asked by the California fruit growers—2 cents per pound on lemons and 1 cent on oranges—would be included in the emergency tariff bill as finally presented to congress for passage.

George, three years of age, appeared on the Easter program at his Sunday school in Greenwood, singing a solo. As he was leaving the church with his mother a friend said to him: "George, you did fine." "I know it," he replied. His mother, reproving him, said: "Why, George, you should not have said that to the lady." Whereupon George answered, "Well, mother, I guess I could hear my own voice."—Ex.

Smiles and frowns—optimism and melancholy. And what's it all about? Why, Mr. Booth is giving out J. C. reports for the first semester.

The smiles and frowns are not a part of a mere play; but the true expression of what was done thru-out four months of wisdom getting.

Now don't you really pity the person with nothing but "one's"? He has nothing but a reputation to keep thru-out the next semester, while the person with a "three" or a "two" has a rep to get and one to forget.

The man with the "one's" may think he knows; but if the man with a "three" learned to know he didn't know, he can start anew and be further ahead in the end, than the man that knew he knew—too soon.

C. J. C. LICKS POMONA FROSH
In the afternoon of Friday the 28th, the C. J. C. basket ball players added another scalp to their savage reputation by defeating the Pomona Frosh with a score of 33 to 17.

The game was well supported and the rooters were kept at their best by our yell leader, Bill Cushing.

The Tigers scored points as follows: Donnelly 10, Salter 4, Hippard 17, Woodhead 2.

ATHLETES ENTERTAINED

Tuesday evening, the athletes of the Junior College were given a feed by a number of the J. C. Girls. All men on the football and basket ball teams, as well as the coach and business managers, were invited.

The young ladies in the kitchen proved their skill as chefs by giving the boys a dinner which included everything from fruit cocktail to apple pie a la mode. Every one of the twenty-three guests seemed to enjoy the eats.

Victrola records furnished musical entertainment during the dinner.

George Hamilton as toastmaster encouraged some snappy, peppy talks from most of the men. Because of the enthusiasm generated, practically all of the men decided to go out for track and win the league championship for Chaffey.

NEW STUDENTS

Many new J. C. students have registered for work at Chaffey this semester. Among the regular students are: Lucille Herr of Upland, C. G. Edgar and Victor Allen of Pomona, Lytle Davis and Arnold E. Vickroy of Claremont and Wendell Lorbeer of Claremont. Newcomers among the Service men to be welcomed into our midst are M. A. Weston from Arrowhead Springs, J. E. Welk, G. Lindskog, George Loyd, J. Van Roven and M. W. Mast.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

Thursday, Feb. 3rd, the Junior College had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Bliss, instructor of physics and engineering mathematics in the Riverside Junior College. Mr. Bliss is also a member of the U. S. government committee on national parks. He is well acquainted with the mountains of California and has traveled through many regions. Mr. Bliss gave an illustrated lecture on "The High Sierras," which was one of great interest.

JAS. J. HOLLAND PASSES AWAY

The entire Junior College student body regrets deeply the untimely death of James J. Holland, one of the Service men. He was a man who gave everything he had and he gave it with a smiling face. Every one who knew him will miss him greatly. The memorial assembly on Tuesday was only a small token of our appreciation of the good he brought into our lives.

U. S. C. FROSH DEFEATS C. J. C.

The score of 35 to 20 in favor of the U. S. C. Frosh tells only a minor part of Tuesday's basket ball game. The boys were full of fight from the first whistle to the last and the Frosh knew they were up against a bunch of real scrappers. The game was fast and full of the unexpected, with the Frosh leading throughout. Basket throwing was greatly handicapped by the high wind and the lat-unclaimed deposits of said bank as of January 1, 1921, of deposits known to be dead; or of depositors who have not made further deposits or withdrawn any living.

of January, 1921, before the undersigned,
a Notary Public in and for said County,
a Notary P. W. PALMER, Notary Public.

George looked at him haggardly.
"You're sure people are not talking?"
"Rubbish! Your mother's on my side about this division because she knows Sydney's a pig and always has been a pig, and so has his spiteful wife. I'm trying to keep them from getting the better of your mother as well as from getting the better of me, don't you suppose? Well, they're in a rage because Sydney always could do what he liked with father unless your mother interfered, and they know I got Isabel to ask him not to do what they wanted. That's all there is to it."
"But she said," George persisted wretchedly, "she said there was talk."
She said—

"Look here, young fellow!" Amberson laughed good-naturedly. "There probably is some harmless talk about the way your Aunt Fanny goes after poor Eugene, and I've no doubt I've abetted it myself. Fanny was always linguishing at him, twenty-odd years ago, before he left here. Well, we can't blame the poor thing if she's got her hopes up again, and I don't know that I blame her, myself, for using your mother the way she does."

"How do you mean?"
Amberson put his hand on George's shoulder. "You like to tease Fanny,"
he said, "but I wouldn't tease her about this, if I were you. Fanny hasn't got much in her life. In fact, I don't know of anything much that Fanny has got, except her feeling about Eugene. She's always had it—and what's funny to us is pretty much life-and-death to her. I suspect. Now, I'll not deny that Eugene Morgan is attracted to your mother. He is; and that's another case of 'always was'; but I know him, and he's a knight, George—a crazy one, perhaps, if you've read 'Don Quixote'. And I think your mother likes him better than she likes any man outside her own family, and that he interests her more than anybody else—and 'always has'. And that's all there is to it, except—"

"Except what?" George asked quickly, as he paused.
"Except that I suspect—" Amberson chuckled, and began over: "I'll tell you in confidence. Fanny uses your mother for a decoy duck. She does everything in the world she can to keep your mother's friendship with Eugene going, because she thinks that's what keeps Eugene about the place, so to speak. Fanny's always with your mother, you see; and whenever he sees Isabel he sees Fanny.
Fanny thinks he'll get used to the idea of her being around, and some day her chance may come! There! D'you see?"

"Well—I suppose so," George's brow was still dark, however. "If you're sure whatever talk there is, is about Aunt Fanny. If that's so—"
"Don't be an ass," his uncle advised him lightly, moving away. "I'm off for a week's fishing to forget that woman in there, and her pig of a husband."
(His gesture toward the mansion indicated Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Amberson.)
"I recommend a like course to you, if you're silly enough to pay any attention to such rubbishings! Good-by!"

George was partially reassured,
but still troubled; a word haunted him like the recollection of a nightmare. "Talk!"
He walked rapidly toward his own
front gate. The victoria was there with Fanny alone; she jumped out briskly and the victoria waited.
"Where's mother?" George asked sharply.
"At Lucy's. I only came back to get some embroidery, because we found the sun too hot for driving. I haven't time to talk now, George; I'm going right back. I promised your mother—"
"You listen!" said George.
"What on earth—"
He repeated what Amelia had said.
This time, however, he spoke coldly,
and without the emotion he had exhibited during the recital to his uncle:
Fanny was the one who showed agitation during this interview, for she pale, and her eyes dilated.
"What on earth do you want to bring such trash to me for?" she demanded, breathing fast.
"I merely wished to know two things: whether it is your duty or mine to speak to father of what Aunt Amelia—"

Fanny stamped her foot. "You little fool!" she cried. "You awful little fool! Your father's a sick man, and you want to go troubling him with an Amberson 'family row! It's just what that cat would love you to do!"
"Well, I—"
"Tell your father if you like! It will only make him a little sicker to think he's got a son silly enough to listen to such craziness!"
"Then you're sure there isn't any talk?"

Fanny disclaimed a reply in words.
She made a hissing sound of utter contempt and snapped her fingers. Then she asked scornfully: "What's the other thing you wanted to know?" George's pallor increased. "Whether it mightn't be better, under the circumstances," he said, "if this family were not so intimate with the Morgan family—at least for a time. It might be better—"

Fanny stared at him incredulously.
"You mean you'd quit seeing Lucy?"
"I hadn't thought of that side of it, but if such a thing were necessary on account of talk about my mother, I—"
"He hesitated unhappily. 'I suggested that if all of us—for a time—perhaps only for a time—it might be better if—'"
"See here," she interrupted. "We'll settle this nonsense right now. If Eugene Morgan comes to this house, for instance, to see me, your mother can't get up and leave the place the minute he gets here, can she? What do you want her to do: insult him? Or perhaps you'd prefer she'd insult Lucy?

That would do just as well. What is it you're up to, anyhow? Do you really love your Aunt Amelia so much that you want to please her? Or do you really hate your Aunt Fanny so much that you want to—that you want to—"

She choked and sought for her handkerchief; suddenly she began to cry.
"Oh, see here," George said. "I don't hate you, Aunt Fanny. That's silly. I don't—"

"You do! You do! You want to—you want to destroy the only thing—that I—that I ever—"

And, unable to continue, she became inaudible in her handkerchief.

George felt remorseful, and his own troubles were lightened: all at once it became clear to him that he had been worrying about nothing. He perceived that his Aunt Amelia was indeed an old cat, and that to give her scandalous meanings and another thought would be the height of folly. By no means insusceptible to such pathos as that now exposed before him, he did not lack pity for Fanny, whose almost confession was lamentable; and he was granted the vision to understand that his mother also pitted Fanny infinitely more than he did.
This seemed to explain everything.

He patted the unhappy lady awkwardly upon her shoulder. "There, there!" he said. "I didn't mean anything. Of course the only thing to do about Aunt Amelia is to pay no attention to her. It's all right, Aunt Fanny.
Don't cry. I feel a lot better now, myself. Come on; I'll drive back there with you. It's all over, and nothing's the matter. Can't you cheer up?"
Fanny cheered up; and presently the customarily hostile aunt and nephew were driving out Amberson boulevard unhappily together in the hot sunshine.

CHAPTER XI.
"Almost" was Lucy's last word on the last night of George's vacation—that vital evening which she had half consented to agree upon for "settling things" between them. "Almost engaged," she meant. And George, discontented with the "almost," but contented that she seemed glad to wear a sapphire locket with a tiny photograph of George Amberson inside it.

George was partially reassured,
but still troubled; a word haunt-
ed him like the recollection of a night-
mare. "Talk!"
He walked rapidly toward his own
front gate. The victoria was there had to miss school Friday to assist him in the postoffice.

Mr. George Dooley who is very ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs.
Thomas Donnelly, began to show improvement a few days ago. Each day sees some slight improvement in his condition although he is not considered to be out of danger by any means. Dr. Weber is giving him excellent care and the men of the colony have been going in to help care for him. He is still unconscious much of the time, but occasionally knows members of the family.

Mrs. Chas. Jones and sons of San Bernardino spent the week-end with Capt. J. H. Scott and Mr. and Mrs.
Walter Barnes.

A picnic party to Lytle Creek Saturday was made up of Misses Irene Scott and Gertrude Greenlee and Misses Marian Haynes and Margaret and Helen Bost of Ontario. Rev. C.
W. Greenlee took the young people up for the day.

Mr. Ed Bostwick, son-in-law of
Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Fetrow, arrived Tuesday from Bellingham, Wash., and is a guest of the Fetrow and Burger families.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonser were up from Corona Monday.

Mrs. A. Ogan of Ontario was a visitor Monday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Herbert Price.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fitzgerald came out from the city the first of the week and are visiting Mr. and Mrs.
C. C. Brownless and family.

Miss Joy Fisher was an overnight
guest of Miss Dorothy Smith Tuesday night.

Mrs. Carl Hileman ran a needle into her hand Saturday while cleaning. The needle had been left sticking in the wall and as she ran her hand against it she broke the needle and left a large piece embedded so deeply that it was necessary to give her an anesthetic before it could be cut out. This was done at a San Bernardino hospital, where she remained until Sunday before coming home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brownless motored to Long Beach Friday for the day.

Mr. and O. H. Price and children attended the Kansas picnic at Long Beach on Saturday and looked up old friends from the Sunflower State.

Miss Marjorie Tilden spent the week-end in Upland with her aunt Mrs. Amy Frost, and daughters.

"Way Down East," which has been given in motion pictures in San Bernardino and Riverside the past week, has attracted a number of Etiwanda people who did not get to see it in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Daly who moved here recently from Wineville with their family are moving this week to Ontario. Mr. Daly has been running a blacksmith shop while living here but wished to go to a place where he could secure more work in his line than it was possible to get to do here. Again Etiwanda people will have to go to Cucamonga to get any blacksmithing done.

Upland Merchants
HAVE GOT TO SELL IN 1921
YOU BET!

For a long time they have been more order takers. They filled up their stores, and the people, being reckless and extravagant, bought at random. The times have changed. Deflation is here with both brogans. The people are now buying only what they need and caching the rest of their money in the bank or in the old stocking.

Which means that the retail merchant must become at once a real salesman.

He has to get back of it whether he wants to or not. The business won't come to him as it has largely in recent years; he must Go Get It!

If he is a good business man he realizes right up to the hilt that the best advertisements are his best salesmen; that his advertisements must be attractive, attention-getting and so well presented in a paper of thorough circulation in the Upland and vicinity district that they will drag
the people to his store.

That is why The News has equipped itself with an illustrated advertising service. We stand ready at all times with a real service.

Let us know what you want in the way of an ad. Our service and The News circulation will do the rest.

THE THRASHER

ter part of the game was played in semi-darkness.

For C. J. C. Hippard was the greatest individual point getter, with eight to his credit. Donnelly, who played only the second half, and Salter came next, each with six point. The entire first half was fought without the services of either Lucas or Donnelly, who were laid up with injuries, and although they were badly missed, their places were ably filled by Mitchell and Graves.

GRUMPY TRY-OUTS

During the past week, try-outs for Grumpy, the Junior College play, have been in progress, under the direction of Miss Fredendall. Rehearsals will begin at once.

George Hamilton is to play Grumpy, the fussy old lawyer and grandfather of Virginia. The very interesting part of Susan, the maid, will be played by Miss Mae Case. Mr. Trunkfield will be Mr. Jarvis, and Mr. Lorbeer will play the part of Kibble, his valet.

The remainder of the cast is not definitely decided upon, but the number of candidates assures a good cast. The play will be given on the 25th and 26th of February.

NEW C. J. C. OFFICERS

Last Thursday, semester elections for C. J. C. student body officers were held. The nominations were made two previous meetings and there were a large number of candidates.

Alex Cordes was elected president. Mr. Cordes has been active in many branches of J. C. activities. He was captain of the football team, and was also a member of the debating team which won from Riverside last fall. Lillian Widmer and Frances Wilson tied for the vice-presidency, so that the elections for that office will have to be held again. Mr. George Garrison, secretary-elect, is a Federal Board man. Last year he distinguished himself at Chaffey, for he received the highest average of any J. C. student. Mr. L. G. Woods, also a Service man, was elected treasurer. Mr. Woods attended J. C. last year. Every one knows Big Bill Cushing, who was elected yell leader. The efficiency and capability of the incoming officers is assured and we know that the J. C. will accomplish great things in the next semester.
